Honors ENGL 2010:
Reading the World

Accept the challenge!

Join us and read multicultural, classic and contemporary texts that give the contexts for conversations that are still going on today, conversations that affect us. In order to join these conversations in an effective way, we must know these contexts and our place in them. Only then can we change them. It has been said the pen is mightier than the sword. Will you join us to become powerful with your pen?
