Haley Jex:

Psychology Practicum: OUTreach Resource Centers

LGBTQ youth are at a higher risk for substance abuse, mental health problems, and suicidal behavior. This is because of the prejudice and discrimination these youth face for identifying as LGBTQ. OUTreach Resource Centers provide support and services for these youth, and several WSU students serve as Psychology Practicum students at this location. This poster will outline the experiences of one such student.