Title of Study: Racial and Ethnic Microaggressions Study

Experiment Open Date: May 9, 2016  Experiment Close Date: June 24, 2016

(IRB) Approval Number: 6225 from Utah State University

Participation Credits: 16 credits instructors determine how this will be used in their course

Time (duration): Approximately 4 - 6 hours across 6 weeks

Brief Description of Study:
Dr. Melanie Domenech Rodriguez and Christina Patterson in the Department of Psychology at Utah State University in collaboration with Dr. Azenett Garza from Weber State University are conducting a research study to find out more about how USU and Weber State University college students who identify as White, European American, or Caucasian can increase their knowledge and detection of racial and ethnic microaggressions. Participants will be put in to one of three conditions which will have the participants complete a series of questionnaires, watch sets of videos, and participate in an in-person activity (this activity will vary depending on which group you are in). Participants will be asked to complete surveys at four separate times (3 of which will be online). Total time is about 4 to 6 hours over 6 weeks. Most of the participation will be completed online.

Participation Criteria
Utah State University and Weber State University students ages 18 years and older that identify as White, European American, or Caucasian.
