Brief Description of Study:
Participants will be asked to complete a brief (30-minute) confidential online survey regarding sexual experiences and attitudes about sex. Because of the subject matter of this study, questions may be sensitive in nature. The survey was designed to protect the anonymity of respondents. Any information that might potentially identify an individual (e.g., a combination of demographics) will be kept confidential. Participants can include an e-mail address to be entered into a drawing for a $50 gift card. This information will be stripped from the corresponding data before analysis and will be kept separately so that no link can be made between a participant and individual responses.
