

HOW TO FILE FOR UTAH RESIDENT STATUS

Application Deadline:

All applications and supporting documentation must be submitted by the 15th day of the semester in which the student is applying for consideration. Applications received after that deadline will be considered for the following semester. Submitting an application does not guarantee resident status will be approved.

If additional documentation is needed you will be notified via your WSU e-mail account. Once the application and all required documentation are submitted, the review process may take up to three weeks.

Weber State University, as a part of the Utah System of Higher Education, is a state-supported university. As such, WSU receives some of its funding from the state of Utah, which receives its funding from the taxpayers of Utah. That is why residents of Utah receive a lower, or subsidized, resident tuition rate.

Because of this, WSU has the responsibility to classify each admitted student as either a resident or nonresident for tuition purposes. WSU asks questions on the admissions application to collect information in order to make that determination. If students do not meet the state's definition of a resident OR do not accurately answer those questions, they may be classified as a nonresident. As a nonresident, students will be assessed the full nonresident tuition and may be ineligible for WSU tuition waivers.

Students seeking to change their status from nonresident to resident must fill out and submit the Residency Reclassification form online at www.weber.edu/utahresident. In order to access that form, students must be admitted to WSU and must have set up their eWeber portal. Instructions for setting up that portal are found online at www.weber.edu/whatsnext. A student must log in to their eWeber portal in order to access the Residency Reclassification form.

The online Residency Reclassification form will default some information for the student, and then asks a series of questions to determine if the student fits the definition of a Utah resident as set by Utah state law. After the form is submitted, the student will receive emails to their WSU student email account requesting supporting documentation. The student email account is accessed from the student's eWeber portal.

Emails will be sent to the student for each piece of documentation required. To upload the documentation, the student would click the link, log back into their eWeber portal, and upload the documentation. Students may also email documents to admissions@weber.edu, fax them to (801) 626-6747 or bring them in person to the Admissions Office.

Once the application is complete and all requested documentation has been submitted the application is ready for review. The review process can take up to two weeks. After a decision has been made, the student will receive an email to their WSU email account notifying them of the decision.
