This class provides an opportunity for students to gather and discuss global conservation and biodiversity news as covered in the New York Times. The class is envisioned as a magnet for any and all interested persons, including faculty and staff, to engage in conversations about the major global conservation events of the day--and potentially to examine the issue (or non-issue) of media bias.

HNRS 2920 • CRN 32383 • Gen Ed: N/A
Tuesdays: 10:30 – 11:45
WSU Main Campus • Room LI 324
1 credit hour, credit/no credit only

Dr. Andrea Easter-Pilcher
Professor of Zoology