

Search Advocate Phase 4: Evaluating Candidates

Research strongly suggests a need to invest time early in the hiring process (ideally before posting, at least before applications are reviewed) for the committee. This approach helps to reach a shared understanding of the qualifications in relationship to the job and reduce the impact of implicit bias.

The tool is designed for full search committee participation to develop this tool. This gives committees that opportunity to discuss what meets or demonstrates strength for each qualification, which qualifications most strongly predict better performance, and how/when to evaluate each qualification.

Doing this before advertising double-checks the qualifications for effectiveness, allows them to be refined as needed, and uncovers structural bias. Rigorous accountability to the matrix at each successive stage helps mitigate cognitive and structural bias.

Below is a guide to fill out this form. Complete the qualification columns before priority levels.

- Qualification & Required or Preferred: Copy each qualification word-for-word from the job description, one qualification in each cell. In the second column, indicate R for required or P for preferred.
Remember, a candidate must meet all required qualifications to be hired.
Preferred qualifications predict better performance.
- Relationship to Job: To understand how broadly we can evaluate/interpret a qualification, we must understand what it enables the appointee to do in the position. Which position duties require it? Why is it needed, how is it used in the job, what might be difficult or impossible without it? Does this qualification tie directly to duties described in the job description, or have we failed to show the part of the job this qualification supports? Is it a proxy for skills not otherwise articulated? If so, what skills?
- Transferable: Is this a transferable skill? Transferable skills are portable skills that one can learn in any setting (professional, personal, or educational) and take to any other setting; when a skill is transferable, the screening criteria are highly flexible.
- Screening Criteria: This column broadens our understanding of how candidates may meet each qualification, so we can consider more candidates and those who are qualified less typical ways. Given its relationship to the job, what experiences, accomplishments, or learning meet this qualification? If it could be assessed in an interview, what MUST the candidate include in their answer—at a minimum—to meet the need? Go beyond quantity (such as number of years) to define indicators of acceptable quality in their performance or understanding. Ask “who might we miss?” and “What ways to meet this we have overlooked?” to broaden the criteria.

Search Advocate Phase 4: Evaluating Candidates

- Priority – How important is strength in this qualification compared to strength in other qualifications?
 - Required qualifications: If meeting a qualification strongly (vs. minimally) strongly predicts better performance, it is a high priority for the committee to spend more time evaluating. Conversely, once an objective numeric qualification is met, there is no need for the committee to spend more time on it; it is low priority.
 - Preferred qualifications: Those that most strongly predict better performance are high priority. Those that least strongly predict better performance are low priority. High, medium, and low priority apply to both preferred AND required qualifications.
- Strength – For medium and high-priority qualifications, what are indications that a candidate meets them strongly (beyond just meeting them) in relationship to the job? What ways of meeting (or exceeding) the qualification predict better performance? Go beyond quantity (how much) to include quality (how well).
- When to Assess – at what stage will we have enough information to assess this qualification for all applicants? If it is high priority and will be evaluated at more than one stage, what are we looking for at each stage? When will we eliminate candidates for not meeting it?
