

Bachelor of Science (BS) in Nuclear Medicine - Graduation MAP

WEBER STATE UNIVERSITY

This is a suggested plan. Contact an advisor in the School of Radiologic Sciences (801-626-6329 or chp-radsci@weber.edu) to create a specific plan that best fits your academic needs. Remember, taking an average of 15 credit hours per semester facilitates timely graduation.

To be eligible for consideration to a bachelor's degree program from the School of Radiologic Sciences, students must be certified by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT). Please refer to the Associate of Applied Sciences (AAS) in Radiologic Technology Graduation MAP if not ARRT certified. Successful completion of the Radiologic Technology program and all general education requirements does not guarantee admission to a School of Radiologic Sciences bachelor degree program. Students must submit an application to the School of Radiologic Sciences by January 10th of each year.

Students who wish to receive a bachelor's degree from the School of Radiologic Sciences must fulfill all general education requirements or currently have an Associate of Science (AS) degree. Refer to the General Studies or Associate of Science in Health Sciences (Radiologic Sciences track) Grad MAPs for requirements for the AS degree.

Notes:

- General education courses are also available through Distance Education. Contact Continuing Education at 801-626-7218 for advisement on distance education courses.
- A minimum of 30 credit hours from Weber State University (WSU) courses must be completed to receive a bachelor's degree from WSU.
- A minimum of 120 total credit hours must be earned to receive a bachelor's degree from WSU, which may include WSU and/or transfer coursework, and experiential credit. This may require taking elective courses.
- Transfer students will receive credit for coursework completed at a regionally accredited college/university.
- Students who receive their ARRT credential from a hospital-based program may receive experiential credit after completing 30 credit hours from WSU courses, which will apply toward their total credit hours earned for the bachelor's degree.
