- School safety is a significant and important issue for all stakeholders. School safety covers a broad spectrum of issues that include day to day threats such as transportation, parking lots, safe walking routes, playgrounds, bullying, access of non-custodial parents, property crime as well as response to fire and natural disasters. Often thoughts turn to high profile incidents that are best addressed by elected board members and law enforcement professionals where plans must be secure. There is much to be done related to day-to-day student safety where parent involvement is important, and safety can be strengthened. It is vital to consider reliable reports and statistics in making decisions about school safety.
