Science Misconceptions in the Classroom:
Sources and Solutions

Andrew Shtulman
Occidental College

Author of Scienceblind: Why Our Intuitive Theories about the World Are So Often Wrong
An account of students’ misconceptions about scientific phenomena and the resistances they provide in learning science.

Thursday, September 26
4:30 - 6:30 p.m.
Tracy Hall 102

For K-12 Science Educators and Science Teacher Ed students

Light dinner will be served

For more information, please contact:
Jennifer Claesgens (jenniferclaesgens@weber.edu)
or Adam Johnston (ajohnston@weber.edu)