ABOUT OUR CAMPUSES

BORDEAUX

— Bordeaux, France, voted the most attractive city in the world by the Los Angeles Times and Lonely Planet in 2017, is renowned for its fine wine and knowledge of luxury. We’ll take a closer look at the crossroads between traditional expertise and standards of excellence as they intersect with the concepts of brand management and experiential marketing. Thanks to its location on the Atlantic coast and with an excellent level of infrastructure (now just 2 hours from Paris by high-speed rail!), Bordeaux is a hub for many multinational companies, making it a logical choice for a closer look at innovations in Supply Chain Management & Design.

And did you know that Bordeaux is also labeled as a centre of “French Tech” for its aptitude in developing innovative technologies? We’ll give participants a first-hand look at what it means to create a sound Business Model Design and couple it with the soft skills necessary to lead your vision to the marketplace.

MARSEILLE

— Marseille, the 3rd largest city in France, is beautifully situated on France’s southern coast, bordering the Mediterranean Sea. The first Greek settlement in France (est. 600 B.C.), it remains one of the largest European ports linking Europe to Africa, Asia and the Middle East. A “Crossroads of the Mediterranean,” modern Marseille is a city with a diverse population, both in terms of ethnicity and culture.

Named as the European Capital of Culture in 2013 and the European Capital of Sport in 2017, Marseille is one of France’s most dynamic large cities. With 7,200 companies created in the city in the last 5 years, as France’s second largest research centre with over 3,000 research scientists within Aix-Marseille University, what better place to come and join one of our International Summer School programmes dedicated to Diversity Management, Design, Finance, International Business, and/or Sports Marketing.

PARIS

— Paris is a city that needs no introduction – the City of Lights. An indisputable world capital, site of the most ambitious international accords on curbing climate change, the Paris Agreements in 2016, and host to the 2024 Olympics, it has been home to some of the greatest creative talents and critical thinkers throughout history. What better place to spend 2 weeks gaining an insight into Disruptive Technologies and their impact on the companies and managers who use them?
ACCOMMODATION

To take full advantage of French city life, KEDGE Business School recommends that students take lodging in an “Appart-Hotel” in the city-centre.

Centrally located downtown, the residence hotels provide affordable and comfortable studio flats for 2 to 3 persons, equipped with private bathroom, kitchen, Wi-Fi and weekly housekeeping, thus giving participants an ideal starting point to enjoy the city during the evenings and on weekends, while offering them the opportunity to cook their own meals and keep costs reasonable.

Each feature direct access to the KEDGE campuses by either tramway, bus or on foot.

While KEDGE does not own or operate the residences, our staff is available to help organise student reservations as a courtesy service in Bordeaux, Marseille and/or Paris at no charge.
