- Dean should also receive copies of the Evaluation Team report if not already delivered.

By May 15

- Dean's 1 – 2 page response is prepared and forwarded to the Program Faculty
- Digital copies of the site visit report, department/faculty response, and dean's response are forwarded to the Office of Institutional Effectiveness. These are posted on the program's Program Review web page.

By August 1

Following documents are posted on webpage and shared with the Office of Academic Affairs:

- 3 – 5 page executive summary of the self-study
- Program Review Evaluation Team Report
- Program Faculty response
- Dean's response
- Draft of Board of Trustees/Board of Regents' report is developed which provides a summary of all reports, recommendations, and responses.

Fall Semester, following year (Semester 3)

By October 30

Program Review Standing Committee meets:

- Program director or department chair, with their Dean, provides a brief overview of the review process.
- The Standing Committee presents questions and asks for any needed clarifications.
- The committee as a whole, absent the Dean and Chair/Director, discusses the findings, recommendations, analyses and plans and makes a recommendation for timing of the next program review. That recommendation will range from 5 to 7 years or may be delayed pending specific actions to be taken within the next 3 months.

By November 15

Institutional response is written:

- Provost identifies the need for any interim reports and indicates the anticipated date of the next program review.
- Institutional response is forwarded to Program Faculty and Academic Dean.

By December 15

- The Board of Trustees/Board of Regents report is amended with the institutional response and finalized.

By December 31

- OIE drafts a summary document, which is reviewed/approved and signed by the Provost. This document is inclusive of all completed program reviews and institutional responses. After review and sign-off of President's Council, the document is shared with the Board of Trustees and submitted to the Utah Board of Regents.
