

HEASC Fellow Opening

Are you interested in helping to create climate solutions? We have an opening for a Fellow at the Higher Education Associations Sustainability Consortium (HEASC) to help coordinate the Sustainability Policy Partner Initiative. This important initiative already has campuses from 35 states. We help move people beyond the doom and gloom of climate change. The initiative connects people who care about climate solutions (e.g. students, faculty and staff) with civic engagement opportunities where they can make a difference! It helps create the essential policies we need at the state and local level for climate solutions. The Fellow would: help with outreach for the network of campuses; join in on the monthly support calls; and more fun activities. Your work as a Fellow would be flexible to fit in with your other work.

HEASC Fellows are volunteers who spend about three hours each week working on high impact projects that advance sustainability across the higher education sector. If you are interested in becoming a HEASC Fellow, please email Debra Rowe at debrarowe@aya.yale.edu

HEASC is a network of higher education associations advancing sustainability and climate solutions within their constituencies, the entire system of higher education and the broader society. HEASC identifies leverage points for systems change and creates initiatives and resources to help make it happen. AASHE is the coordinating agency for HEASC. See more about our initiatives below:
